

Little Giles Gingerbread.

See here's little Giles.

With his Gingerbread Book,
For which he doth long,
And at which he doth look ;
Till by longing and looking,
He gets it by Heart,
then eats it up,
As we eat up a Tart.

TOM TAGG.

1796
THE RENOWNED

HISTORY

Celia Harwood
OF

Giles Gingerbread,

Little Boy who lived upon Learning

THE FIRST WORCES

WORCESTER, (MASS)
PRINTED BY ISAIAH
AND SOLD AT HIS B

MDC

Little Giles Gingerbread.

Here's little Giles.

With his Gingerbread Book,
For which he doth long,
And at which he doth look ;
'Till by longing and looking,
He gets it by Heart,
then eats it up,
As we eat up a Tart.

TOM TAGG.

1786
THE RENOWNED

HISTORY

Celia Harwood
OF

Journal
Giles Gingerbread,

Little Boy who lived on Learning.

THE FIRST WORCES

WORCESTER, (MASS)
PRINTED BY ISAIAH
AND SOLD AT HIS B

MDCCLXXXVI

See what Affection, all Creatures have for their Young, and what Care they take of them. What will not a Father and a Mother do to preserve their Children; and Children ought to do the same to their Parents, but they are naughty Children who do not consider this, though God Almighty has promised long Life to those who do. Honour thy Father and thy Mother, that thy Days may be long in the Land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

Giles

Giles came back crying (see here he is) and told his Father that the Geese hissed and laughed at him. Ah, that is because you cannot read, answered the Father. Come hither Giles, says he, you must learn to know all the Letters, and the Sound they have, alone, and when joined to others before you can spell and read. In the Word you attempted to spell, you have taken an f instead of an s, and a u instead of a v, for want of knowing the Letters and Sounds. Here take up this A and look at him well: You see he is very different from

See what Affection all Creatures have for their Young, and what Care they take of them. What will not a Father and a Mother do to preserve their Children; and Children ought to do the same to their Parents, but they are naughty Children who do not consider this, though God Almighty has promised long Life to those who do. Honour thy Father and thy Mother, that thy Days may be long in the Land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

GILES GINGERBREAD. 19

Giles came back crying (see here he is)

and told his Father that the Geese hissed and laughed at him. Ah, that is because you cannot read, answered the Father.
Come hither Giles, says he, you must learn to know all the Letters, and the Sound they have, alone, and when joined to others before you can spell and read. In the Word you attempted to spell, you have taken an f instead of an s, and a u instead of an o, for want of knowing the Letters and their Sounds. Here take up this A and look at him well: You see he is very different from